what mattered was that the British had power to wield, and fry didn’t admit as that they did.